

aixigo wins Private Banking Award with its high performance portfolio management system

Category: Outstanding Front-End Digital Solutions Provider

Aachen, June 2018 – Private Banker International (PBI), the leading information platform for the global wealth management industry, has announced the winners of the Private Banking & Wealth Management Germany Awards 2018. aixigo wins the category Outstanding Front-End Digital Solutions Provider.

The PBI Germany Awards focus exclusively on the dynamics of the German market and praise those institutions that really contribute to the future prosperity of the industry as a whole.

aixigo's Wealth Management Platform offers speed, flexibility and mass capability. Through continuous development, the platform offers a hundred times faster speed than was previously possible on the market.

With this aixigo enables financial service providers to provide extremely fast and flexible services to their customers. The functions are available via APIs, which can easily be integrated and, thus, enable a previously inaccessible service for every customer. They greatly enhance the customer experience, as each user receives very accurate, up-to-date and comprehensive information about one or more groups of portfolios.

Institutions were nominated for each award from the submissions PBI had received. The final selection of the award winners was made by the PBI jury, which consists of independent specialists for asset management and PBI's editorial staff.

In 2018, the Private Banking Conference & Award conference series was introduced in Germany that has brought together private banks, family offices, wealth managers and intermediaries in an active discussion on current issues facing the industry in other countries for over twenty years. The event is an opportunity to exchange ideas, discover trends and network with colleagues from the entire wealth management industry. The prerequisite for winning an award is outstanding performance in private banking.
